

What can I do with my WorkKeys scores?

You can earn a National Career Readiness Certificate!

This nationally recognized credential—powered by WorkKeys assessments—verifies to employers you have the “real world” skills needed to be successful in today’s workplace.

A majority of jobs require skills in Reading for Information, Applied Mathematics, and Locating Information. The National Career Readiness Certificate uses test results from these WorkKeys assessments to award certificates in four categories:

Bronze—Scored at least a Level 3 in each of the three core areas

Silver—Scored at least a Level 4 in each of the three core areas

Gold—Scored at least a Level 5 in each of the three core areas

Platinum—Scored at least a Level 6 in each of the three core areas

For more information, visit
www.NationalCareerReadiness.org or call 1-800/WORKKEY (967-5539).

NATIONAL CAREER READINESS CERTIFICATE®

Why do I need a National Career Readiness Certificate?

Employers around the country are receiving hundreds of applications for only a handful of open positions. Stand out from the crowd by earning your National Career Readiness Certificate.

How do I get a National Career Readiness Certificate?

Visit www.MyWorkKeys.com and remember these important tips:

- ✓ You must score at least a Level 3 on three WorkKeys assessments: Applied Mathematics, Locating Information, and Reading for Information.
- ✓ You need to enter the Examinee ID used on your answer document. If you forget your Examinee ID, call 1-800/WORKEY (967-5539).
- ✓ Your birth date is used to identify your test results. If you did not enter your birth date on the test, you can call 1-800/WORKEY (967-5539) to update your record.
- ✓ When creating your account, enter your name exactly as you listed it when you took the test.

For more information, visit
www.NationalCareerReadiness.org or call 1-800/WORKEY (967-5539).

